Another attempt on President's life in SF

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 45-year-old woman fired a shot in the direction of President Ford as he left a downtown hotel Monday, but her gun was deflected by an alert policeman just as it went off, a San Francisco policeman said. Ford was not hurt.

San Francisco Police Lt. Frank Jordan said the Secret Service had taken a woman into custody identified as Srah Moore.

"She was standing between 35 and 40 feet away from the President," Jordan said. "She produced a .38-calibre revolver and fired one shot, fortunately striking no one."

Capt. William Conroy of the San Francisco police said the Secret Service had checked on the woman Sunday night because she was on a list of potential threats to the President.

"The Secret Service examined her and passed her," Conroy said.

He said she was a known activist who had been involved with the massive food giveaway organized last year as an effort to free kidnaped heiress Patricia Hearst.

The woman, whose full name was given as Sarah Jean Moore, no known address, was taken bodily from the crowd and brought into the hotel.

Police stationed themselves outside the room where she apparently was being held on the mezzanine floor.

The President's plane took off from the airport at 3:55 p.m. It had been scheduled to depart at 4:10 p.m.

Weather

More typical summer weather is on tap for the Bay Area today, as spreading low clouds and fog will be burned off for a while during the day by some bright sunshine. Lows might reach the 50's while highs could conceivably reach the high 70's or low 80's. As usual, winds will range from 15-20 miles per hour, though the Weather Service calls for gentler breezes by late afternoon.

Truck barely holds on Longview grade

Driver Steve Gunderson spent more than 45 minutes in the cab of his truck with his foot firmly planted on the brake pedal, waiting patiently for a firemen summoned tow truck yesterday while brake fluid oozed from his undercarriage and down the 30-percent grade of Longview Drive. He told Pleasanton police and firemen he tried backing down the hill when he realized he couldn't continue up the grade, but that his trailer jack-knifed. He rammed the truck's front wheels into the embankment and waited 20 minutes until postman Chris Pierson happened by and blocked the truck's rear wheels. Firemen had to block the wheels of a car that couldn't get around the truck or back up the steep, winding grade. Pleasanton Chief of Public Safetey Walter McCloud took the opportunity to fume over the thought of Dr. Howard Long's proposed sub-division on the side of the hill. He has told city council that emergency vehicles could not get around a car or truck stalled on the hill, and that service vehicles, like the re-surfacing truck, present a not-unusual problem. City council formally rejected Dr. Long's road at its last meeting, but formed a special committee to iron out difficulties with the doctor and his attorney.

Nuclear Initiative showdown averted

Council sidesteps issue

PLEASANTON — The council Monday night was urged by two citizens to pass a resolution calling for public study of Proposition 1, an initiative measure that would impose certain controversial safeguards on nuclear power plants.

The council avoided what it thought could be an appearance of taking sides by instead passing, 4-0, a resolution that urged citizens to become informed on all state propositions on the June ballot.

A mini-debate erupted after Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire said she belonged to a committee that is working against the proposition and would have to abstain on any resolution that appeared to support it.

Tom and Gail Frost, members of Project Survival, which supports the initiative, said their proposed resolution was intended only to encourage citizens to become familiar with the complex issue.

Frost said the proposition would not impose a moratorium, but would establish an 11-year program to force companies to "back up their claims" and assume liability for nuclear power.

But another citizen, Bob Butler, said the action could be interpreted as support for Project Survival.

A county representative of Pacific Gas & Electric told the bounch the proposition was, in effect, a cease and desist order that "borders on the ridiculous" because it would try to make nuclear power fail-safe.

He said the "safety factor" has been outstanding for nuclear power.

The resolution proposed by the Frosts would have urged citizens to attend Sacramento hearings that will begin Oct. 14 on the initiative. It also urged that a record of the hearings be made available at city hall.

The general resolution passed by the council was proposed by Councilman Bob Philcox and supported by Mayor Pro Tem Bill Herlihy, Mayor Ed Kinney and LeClaire. Councilman Roger McLain was absent.

Murray on agenda

Alameda County Bureau

Tentative moves for preservation of the Murray Schoolhouse will be made this morning before the Alameda Board of Supervisors when the county's Parks Advisory Commission asks the board to petition the State Historical Resources Commission to designate the 119-year-old building a point of historical interest.

The schoolhouse, scheduled for the auction bloc Oct. 8, stands in the path of the I-580 widening project. It lies south of the freeway just west of Foothill Road and was used last by the Primitive Baptist Church.

With an eye toward an "historical downtown," the Dublin Historical Preservation Association (DHPA), would like CalTrans to move the building across the freeway to Donlon Road, site of Old St Raymond's Church and the Dublin Cemetery. The area served as the hub of Dublin when the town was a stop on the Sacramento-San Jose stagecoach run.

The DHPA formed recently to save the old school as an historical marker. Proponents of the "hub" plan would like to see the Jeremiah Fallon home moved to the area as well, although the Livermore-Amador Valley Historical Society is handling the Fallon project.

Supervisors also will be asked to authorize eminent domain proceedings for 2.7 acres for the proposed realignment and construction of a portion of Stanley Boulevard in western Livermore.

The county needs 2.7 acres of unimproved property just west of Isabel Avenue and, if the measure passes, must deposit $23,565 with the courts.

They also will review a petition submitted for "immediate action" on creation of a one-way bicycle path on the north side of East Avenue.

Supervisors will meet at 9 a.m. in the county administration building, 1221 Oak St.

Chamber votes today on redevelopment

PLEASANTON — Chamber of Commerce members will vote today at noon whether they will support an amended endorsement conditionally supporting the $27 million redevelopment proposal or return to their previous resolution giving total support to the plan.

The amended resolution was offered after Citizens Against ReDevelopment (CARD), including Chamber members, led opposition against the plan at the last three general meetings. Council members spoke in favor of the proposal.

The conditions listed in the amended endorsement include a request the city prepare a list of priorities the redevelopment agency would have to operate under, and that a review be conducted every five year to update those project plans.

All members are urged to attend the noon meeting today at the Pleasanton Hotel to voice their feelings on the matter.

Love at first sight

Pleasanton's fire engine affair

PLEASANTON — Ever try to drive a fire engine to Pleasanton from Oklahoma City? Lt. Gareth Hilborn of the city's fire division did.

In fact, he and his wife, Evelyn, made kind of a second honeymoon out of it.

They arrived in town with the city's brand-new fire engine last week, after first stopping in Southern California to shine it up for its big entrance.

The new engine was so popular that when a newspaper photographer saundered down to the main fire station to take its picture, it was missing.

Someone had taken the fire division's secretary for a ride around town.

"It was kind of unusual, to say the least," Hilborn said of the ride out from Oklahoma. "But it's really a pretty engine. You'll like it."

Firemen have kind of an inherent love of fire engines. "It's like anything else," said a fire marshal. "They all look alike 'til you get to know them."

Hilborn got to know the new, $37,000 engine well during the five-day trip. So well that he decided it needed a few quick adjustments before it makes its official debut at the Highland Oaks station, its new home.

The engine was taken to a Livermore Ford dealership for the adjustments, and Hilborn says it runs very well.

It's a vast improvement over the engine it replaces — a 23-year-old machine that "was noted to break down many times," Hilborn said tactfully.

"The only way to get that old thing moving is to put handles on it and carry it," said another member of the division, more bluntly.

The addition means Pleasanton now has three engines, one for each station and another three in reserve.

The new engine required nearly two years to complete because of delays in getting a diesel engine and cast iron pump. It was built by the Borgman Co., which was the city's lowest bidder.

The engine was really needed at least five years ago in Pleasanton, Hilborn said. And, because it came without a radio and other equipment, it won't be finally ready until early October.

Then the fire division will hold an open house to show it off to the residents whose homes it will protect.

Hilborn says he and his wife received plenty of funny looks as they drove their engine along the country's freeways.

They spotted a car fire as they drove through a remote area of Texas, and stopped to put it out.

"It was really astounding for them," said Hilborn. "People were yelling, 'Where did the fire engine come from?' "

At night, they'd pull it up to the door of their motel room.

But, unfortunately for the Hilborns, everybody naturally expects fire engines to be clean and shiny. It rained nearly every day of the trip, and that meant the engine was anything but clean when they pulled into Southern California.

Hilborn spent a whole day polishing up the engine, because a car wash would have charged $25 and that was more than the slim city budget allowed.

City treasurer's job is not what it used to be

PLEASANTON — The first clue to the nature of the city treasurer's job came when a reporter tried to learn his business phone number from city hall.

"I don't think you can reach him," said a secretary. "If it's in regard to something with the city, I think you should talk to Jim Walker (city finance director)."

Walker, asked to explain the city treasurer's job, replied: "That's an interesting position."

And he said that explaining it wouldn't take long.

In the past, the city treasurer spent most of his time signing checks. But now a check-signing machine does that.

He also used to keep track of the coupons people would send to the city to receive payment on their bonds.

Now a bank or financial agency handles that.

John Wipfli, who has held the elected city treasurer post for 11 years, readily admits: "There ain't much to it anymore."

But he still reconciles city bank statements — which are sent to him regularly along with the 800 checks the city pays each month — although a computer has already reconciled them.

He sees himsplf as "sort of a little policeman," despite the fact a state audit of city finances is conducted every year.

"I think it's important to be responsible," he said. "If the audit was out, they'd come back to me, you know."

And they would. For Wipfli, who is paid $25 a month, is ultimately responsible for the city's $6.8-million budget with its $1.7 million in investments.

He has the power to "stop the city cold," in the words of Walker, simply by taking away the key to the check-signing machine and demanding to scrutinize each check himself.

"He can do anything he wants to to safequard city funds," said Walker. "But it would bog the whole city down to a stop while everybody waited for him to personally sign their checks." Fortunately, Wipfli has npver suggested such a thing.

But there are certain duties left to him, like signing official documents such as foreclosures, bonds and treasurer's deeds. What dops hp do for a living? "I don't do the treasurer's job, that's for sure," said Wipfli.

He sells leather tack equipment for race horses, and can be found most weekdays at Bay Area racetracks. If Walker has a document Wipfli must sign, he contacts the city treasurer after working hours.

By law, the city doesn't even need an elected treasurer — the job could be handled by Walker. But when voters were asked to decide in 1968 whether they wanted the post abolished, they chose to retain it.

In fact, Wipfli got more votes in the 1968 election than any other candidate on the ballot.

"I think the job should be elective," he said, although the pay, like the responsibility, has dwindled from $200 a month.

A replica of Wipfli's signature still appears on city hall checks, but it is very faint, as if reflecting just how much his job has diminished.

Wipfli, 46, is married, has nine children and has lived in Pleasanton since 1942. He says he hasn't decided whether to run again when his term expires next spring.

Adult ed introduction class

'Weaving as an art form' offered

A class in making handwoven wall hangings, decorative items and wearing apparel will be offered by the Amador Valley Adult Education for the first time. "Weaving As An Art Form," will be an introduction to the techniques, materials and equipment of non-loom weaving through experimentation in color, texture and design.

The course requires no experience according to Cynthia Ostle, teacher, and is open to all ages including men.

Materials required for the class are mostly scroungable. A small frame will be used as a loom, but anything will do, a wooden box, stretcher bars, or an old picture frame are acceptable. Scrapes of yarn, twine, string, twigs, leaves, anything weavable, can be used to form the body of the weaving.

Cynthia Ostle is a native of Pleasanton, holds a B.S. degree from the University of California and has taught for many years. She has taken varied classes in textile arts and is presently one of three artists in California Cheshire Crafts, an American-English firm dealing in the sales of handwoven wall hangings and decorative items.

Classes begin tonight and will run through Tuesday, Dec. 23, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Amador High School.

For further information on this class or any other adult education class, call Amador Valley Adult Education at 462-5500.

Cynthia Ostle demonstrates weaving which she will be teaching in an adult class beginning tonight at Amador High School.

Patrolman shot kills speeder

PLEASANTON — A California Highway Patrolman shot and killed a woman stopped for speeding early Saturday on I-580 when she allegedly reached into the glove compartment and came out with a 32 caliber automatic pistol.

Alameda County Coroners identified the woman as Betty Ann Scott, 30, of Long Beach. They said her brother, Bob D. Duren, flew to Oakland Saturday evening to identify the body.

According to sheriff's department investigators, she and her companion, George Smith, 23, were pulled over at 4 a.m. by patrolmen Curtis Engerson and Gordon Robbins as they drove west along I-580 near Santa Rita Road in a 1973 station wagon.

It was a "routine" speeding stop, deputies said, but while Engerson checked the victim's California identification card, Robbins, standing near the passenger's window, saw her reach into the glove box and pull out the pistol.

"I ain't got no gun," she reportedly said when both patrolmen ordered her to drop the weapon and freeze.

She kept pulling it out of the glove box and started to point it at Engerson when he fired, according to deputies.

His single shot ripped through her neck and she was pronounced dead on arrival at Valley Memorial Hospital.

George Smith, at one point claiming the victim was his wife, was booked at the Santa Rita jail on a charge of attempted murder. That was later dropped and he is being held now in lieu of $7,000 bail on misdemeanor gun charges and possession of stolen property.

Deputies said the gun she used was reported stolen in a Long Beach gun store burglary. A camera also found in the car was listed by Berkeley police as stolen.

Country Store

Painting, pottery, jewelry, patchwork, dough art, puppets, etc., etc., etc., will be on sale today at Delta Gamma Omega's Country Store.

The store opens at 10 a.m. at the garden room of Hap's Restaurant in Pleasanton Chairwoman Sheri Dickinson and members of the Beta Sigma Phi Chapter will operate the "store" until 9 p.m.

Admission is free and all visitors will have a chance to win a doorprize. There will also be a drawing to benefit Children's Hospital in Oakland.

Not enough money for 75-foot pool

PLEASANTON — The $90,000 the city has available for a deep-water pool will not allow a 75-foot swimming pool as the city had envisioned, according to a report to be given park and recreation commissioners Wednesday night.

Instead, the city will likely have to settle for a 40 - foot - square pool, the report said.

Pleasanton already has two pools at the aquatic center — one for toddlers and another that is only 5½ feet deep, although it is 25 meters long.

A 40-foot pool would allow the city to teach diving and scuba classes, but would continue to prohibit water polo or competitive swimming, according to Dolores Bengtson, aquatic supervisor.

"All other programs could be accommodated either in the smaller deep pool or by using the combination of shallow pool and deep pool," she said.

She said she felt even a 40-foot pool "would give Pleasanton a first-class total facility."

Back to school nights at Murray

Second, third, seventh and eighth graders will have their night at 7:30 on Thursday. The fourth through sixth grades will start their program at 8.

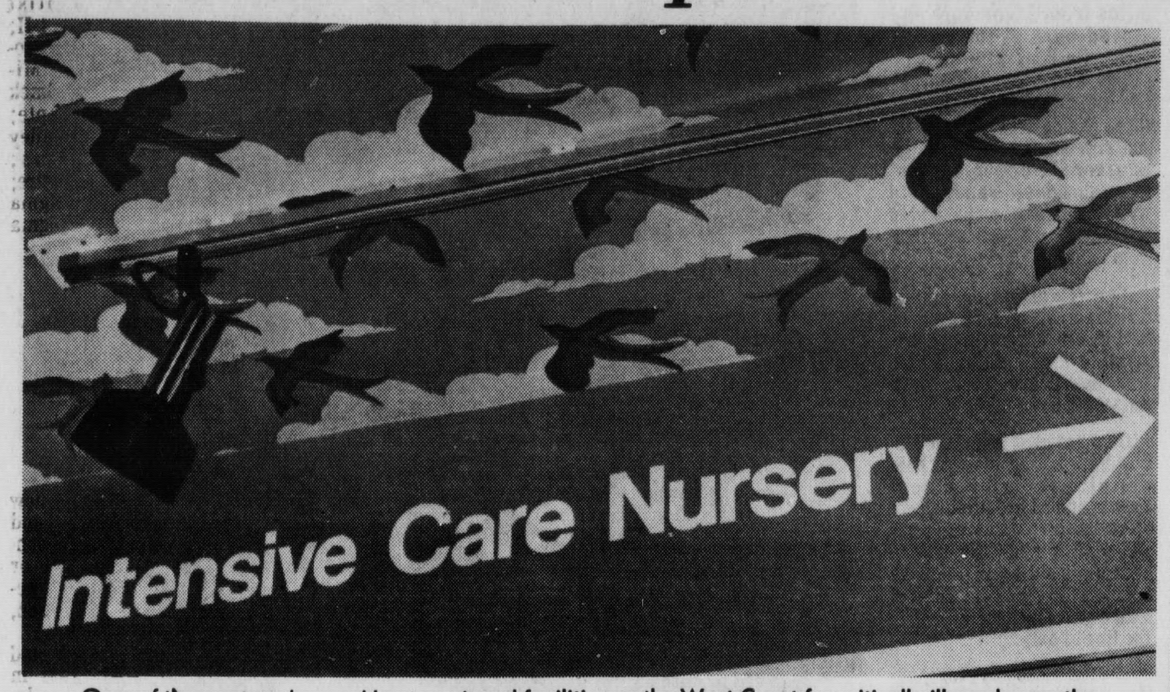
Children's Hospital: Tradition of service to East Bay



One of the most modern and best-equipped facilities on the West Coast for critically ill newborns, the Intensive Care Nursery at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Oakland is bright, colorful and roomy — even the ceilings are uplifting. At present, four infants from the valley are receiving round-the-clock care at the nursery.

By JEAN MCKENNA

Tiny twins Joshua and Jeremiah Conrow were born prematurely August 10, each weighing little more than one pound. It is a modern miracle that they are alive.

The elaborate equipment that monitors their heart beats, blood pressure and breathing — that keeps them alive — is shocking proof that their struggle for life is far from over. Yet during their six weeks in the intensive care nursery at Children' Hospital Medical Center in Oakland they have dach gained over one pound in weight, and they are making progress toward the day when they can go home.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conrow of Livermore, can draw hope from the knowledge that the twins are receiving the very best medical attention that modern technology and a top-flight hospital staff can provide. The new Intensive Care Center at Children's Hospital, within a 45-minute drive from any point in the valley, is one of the best facilities for the care of critically ill infants and children on the West Coast — a heartening fact for any parent.

Most importantly, the Intensive Care Center has attracted the cream of resident doctors seeking pediatric credentials, as well as neo-natologists (newborn specialists). This has made possible a current program in which staffs of 15 Bay Area hospitals are trained by a team from Children's Hospital to handle babies born prematurely or in critical condition.

Valley Memorial Hospital received warm praise from Dr. Gilbert Duritz, a neonatologist on the teaching team, for its "beautiful job" of handling critically ill newborns until they could be transferred to the special intensive care unit at Children's. As a result of the training program, VMH is now approved to provide "continuing care" to infants less seriously ill, thus eliminating a transfer from the valley.

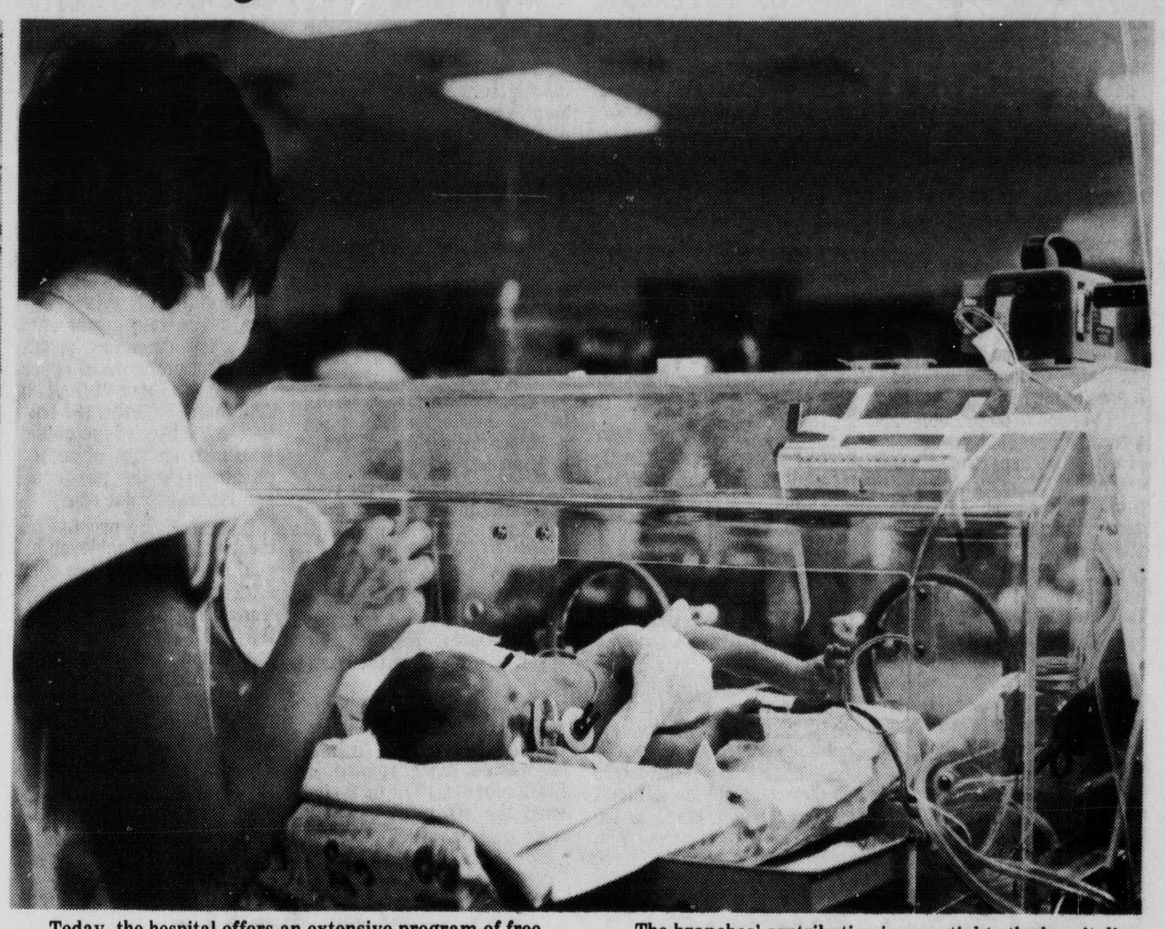
As indicated by Dr. Duritz, Children's Hospital Medical Center is a prime referral hospital, accepting serious pediatric cases from 25 hospitals in the Bay Area and throughout Northern California. In fact, Children's handles about 50 percent of all pediatric cases in the Bay Area.

In a four-month period, Children's treated 30 cases from Livermore, 19 from Pleasanton and 5 from Dublin.

With 28 specialty clinics, a pediatric training program, and pioneering research programs in open heart surgery, sickle-cell anemia and child abuse cases (to name a few areas), Children's Hospital has a famous heritage of quality medical care, to nearly two million children since its founding in 1912. The almost-miraculous recovery of numerous children given little chance of survival has made national headlines for Children's many times.

A remarkable and significant fact about Children's Hospital is that is has always been a non-profit hospital, carrying out its mission with an army of volunteers.

From the time of its institution, Children's has offered free or discounted care to those unable to afford vital but costly medical attention. Out of the 56 cases treated in 1914 at the Baby Hospital Association (the beginnings of Children's Hospital in the McElrath Mansion), 30 cases were handled free of charge, 20 were part-paying, and only 6 paid the full $1 per day charge.



Today, the hospital offers an extensive program of free or part-payment care to children of needy families who do not qualify for MediCal benefits. Out-patients at one of the hospital's clinics may pay only one-fifth of the real cost of treatment, but without that advantage most would receive no medical attention at all.

Because as a non-profit hospital Children's never generates a surplus of funds out of its operations but rather loses money on many of its patients, it must look to the Children's Hospital Foundation and to Children's Hospital Branches, Inc., to meet operating expenses and finance replacement of equipment or building programs.

Even before the hospital was opened in 1912, four volunteer auxiliaries or "branches" were in action to meet its financial needs. Branch members sewed baby garments and stocked hospital shelves with homemade jam. The first hospital wing built in 1914 to replace the old mansion facility was financed through the efforts of branch members who offered pleasure drives in their new-fangled autos at $1 per ride.

This was just the beginning of an amazing cavalcade of financial accomplishments which climaxed with branch earnings of $500,000 in 1974. Mulberry Branch of the Livermore-Amador Valley, one of the 65 active branches exemplifies the incredible fund-raising abilities of this volunteer task force — with only 27 members Mulberry earned over $10,000 for Children's Hospital.

Mulberry Branch's biggest fund-raising activity of the year is its junior horse show which is planned this weekend, Sept. 28 and 28 in Livermore (see story below).

The branches' contribution is essential to the hospital's continued operation, and mission to care for all children, regardless of the ability of parents to pay for treatment, according to Bert Bauman, a finance administrator at the hospital. In addition, the branches have pledged to pay $300,000 of the $1.9 loan for the new Intensive Care Center.

The Intensive Care Center is just the beginning of the monumental task of rebuilding necessary if Children's Hospital is to maintain the high quality of its medical care and meet increasing demands for its service from surrounding areas. For the first time in its 65-year history the hospital asked for community support to help finance the new wing in the current campaign by the Children's Hospital Foundation.

Throughout the years, the branches have continually raised their sights to meet every expanding need. The quest goes on for new and original ideas for fund-raising, and the enthusiasm of branch members is as keen as ever, an incredible accomplishment in this age of inflation.

The unflagging devotion of the branch volunteers is motivated by the dedication of the hospital itself to the communities it serves — and by the story of children such as Joshua and Jeremiah. The people of this valley owe Children's Hospital Medical Center of Northern California a great debt of gratitude and support.

Mulberry Branch stages junior horse show and Western dance

Four-year-old Rickey Shite is recovering frm a Sept. 15 operation in the new intensive care wing of Children's Hospital Medical Center. His father, Richard Shite, Jr., of Livermore commended the hospital for its 'excellent treatment' and explained that he had brought his son to Children's because the new wing was well-equiped to handle Ricky's delicate shunt revision.

As if it weren't enough to stage a mammoth two-day junior horse show in Livermore for the benefit of Children's Hospital Medical Center, Mulberry Branch members have elected to sponsor a barn dance and barbecue the same week-end.

Dubbed "Hoe-pown Plus," the dinner-dance will appropriately be set in The Barn in Livermore from 7 to 11:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 27.

Young equestrians to 17 years of age are invited to compete in the branch's Tenth Annual Junior Horse Show Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 27 and 28 at the Community Horsemen's Arena in Livermore's Robertson Park.

A Western-style show, one of the largest junior shows in the valley, is slated Saturday, with an English-style show featuring jumping competition slated Sunday. Both events are open to spectators free of charge from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Mickey Burke of Woodside will judge both divisions of the junior point show which is approved by the Pacific Coast Hunter, Jumper and Stock-horse Association (B Junior), the California State Horsemen's Association (Junior and Region No. 5), and the Northern California Professional Horsemen's Association (Chapter No. 4). A new feature of the show is the introduction of open-class competition.

Prospective entrants should contact Mrs. Robert Patterson at 447-3239, or Chairman Mrs. Edwin Rundstrom at 447-2056 as soon as possible. The modest entrance fee will benefit Children's Hospital.

Levi's and informal attire are in order for Saturday's Western-themed party featuring Square Dance Caller Bill Springer of Livermore. The Eagle Squares will entertain with a square dance demonstration, while Chuck Wayne's "Country Cuttupps" band will swing with a variety of musical numbers.

A hearty repast of steak, beans and salad will be served with optional wine or beer, and two sides of beef will be given away in a special drawing.

A limited number of tickets at $10 per person may be obtained from co-chairmen Mrs. Bud Ellis at 447-6252 or Mrs. Fred Wagner, Jr., at 447-0408. Reservations must be made by Wednesday.

Livermore Eagles to honor Fire Chief Baird

LIVERMORE — Fire Chief Jack Baird will be honored by the Livermore Aerie of Eagles tonight — the second time he has been distinguished by that Fraternal Order.

The first occasion was durig his high school years in 1943 when he was awarded an honorary membership for his excellence in football.

The Eagle ceremony Tuesday also will credit the city's volunteer firemen. And to hear Baird tell it, it's not really him per se who will receive the Eagle's honor — the credit goes to his men.

"I happen to be fire chief in a community that has one hell of a fine fire department," he explained. "The award in my mind goes to the personnel who make up the department. It's the personnel who are greatly responsible for the success of a fire department; that's my philosophy."

Back in 1957, Baird was "the personnel." He was hired on Sept. 15 as the fire chief of the all-volunteer department and a year later had four regular firemen to supplement the city's 25-man volunteer force.

The Livermore Fire Department was organized in 1874 — Livermore Hook and Ladder No. 1 — with 30 charter volunteer members. During the city's incorporation in 1876 the volunteers formed the Niagra Fire Company No. 1.

Today, Baird heads a force with 46 regular firemen, 15 active volunteers and one secretary.

"I still place a great dependence on the supportive role volunteers have and in the case of a major catastrophy they along with the regular personnel are a very very important factor," praised Baird.

The 49-year-old chief, who first became interested in firefighting when he was 15, was quick to dispel any glorified myths that may exist about what it's like to be a volunteer fireman.

Included in the string of facts he presented when describing what it's like to be a volunteer were: "he's called up in the middle of the night when no one sees him ... he's dirty, cold, wet ... there's no publicity and his job usually goes unnoticed ... the job is dangerous, arduous, difficult ... the manual labor is extreme...."

The same can be said for the regular firemen on the force yet they keep on coming. The waiting list is long for regulars and the department is in the process of evaluating its volunteer needs and screening interested applicants. (Ten more volunteers are needed to bring the force up to 25.)

Despite Baird's rather dire descriptions of what it's really like to fight a fire, some of the, well — fun — creeps into the stories he tells that begin with "one time...."

"One time in 1958 or 59 the Firemen's Ball was being held at the Legion Hall when a call came in. We all got a little smutty that night."

Or "It's amazing in the past years when we were a total volunteer force the number of people who would leave their jobs and run to the station. People may have been totally dressed up in a suit ready to go to a party. We were the best dressed unit in the country."

Why do men continue to apply for fire department and volunteer service? (To date no women have applied in Livermore although Baird cited the affirmative action laws and promised women would receive the same consideration as men.)

"There's a tendency to want to afford a public service, to be productive in a community. Volunteering as a fireman is a meaningful way of fulfilling this feeling," analyzed the chief.

Baird spoke of professional firefighting as if it was the best job around.

"Frankly, working for a public entity affords security. The public safety profession is a very interesting profession. The promotional opportunities are there in the long run and its a respected position in the eyes of the public. It affords feelings of accomplishment to the public not available to anyone else."

Baird is living proof of his theories, having achieved his goal of becoming a fire chief after starting in the profession during his school years in the 1940's. The various commendations and awards that line his small basement office in Fire Station No. 2 — including a California Fire Chief Service Award for this year's presidency — further attest to that fact.

The chief practically is a native son — he was born 100 miles from Livermore and moved here at the age of three. He lives with his wife Peggy and leads the joyous life of the grandfather of three youngsters. His oldest son Tim is a firefighter at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory; daughter Nancy lives with her Air Force husband in Germany, and youngest son Tom is in the Marines.

The Eagles' ceremony Tuesday will be held at their hall at 527 N. Livermore Ave. starting with initiation at 8:15 p.m. and followed by a presentation and reception.

On a national level, the Eagles have a program that honors all law enforcement agents and have established a $3 million Eagle Memorial Foundation as a trust fund to provide a four-year college scholarship for every child of Eagle firefighters killed in the line of duty.

The fund also pays for medical and dental services for the child.

The public is invited to attend the reception for Baird and the city's volunteer firemen.

College planning guide tells of requirements for entry

Getting into a good college is as competitive as landing a choice job.

It's important to know, early in a high-school career, what college admissions boards are looking for: Straight A's? Eight hundreds on the entrance examinations? Art prizes? Presidency of the Spitball Accuracy Society?

And, unless a student is going to one of the more familiar state schools, it also helps to know what the various campuses are like — what they have to offer to a student personally and academically.

That's why local parents, students and counselors are excited about a crisp new book that's circulating around the Valley: "College Planning Guide."

The 67-page, soft-cover tome looks strikingly like a college catalogue, except for its irreverent black - and - white cover design of ivied columns and a tiled hallway.

Between the covers, written in plain English, is everything the aspiring college students wants to know, from how much it costs to take college entrance tests, to a description of the Lawrence Livermore Lab's brand-new career center.

But best of all, the guide contains a seven-page list of Valley college graduates and professionals who are interested in talking with individual students about their futures.

The resource list is placed modestly at the end of the book, but it's what makes this small publication more valuable than any "How - to - get - into - college" book (and there are hundreds) a Valley student could buy.

By picking up the phone, local students can find out all about colleges from Adelphi to Yale, professions from art to veterinarian.

"College Planning Guide" is a project of the American Association of University Women for the Livermore Unified School District. But its predecessor was born in Pleasanton and the guide is being distributed as widely as San Ramon.

It all began when Renee Smith, a Livermore musician, started to help her son, Kevin, search for a good college he could attend next year.

She discovered a booklet put out by the Amador High School District which contained valuable information. Livermore was giving students similar information, but not in booklet form.

At her suggestion, Livermore and Granada High counselors set to work expanding on Amador's information while American Association of University Women members compiled the resource list. Thanks to contributions from each school board member, from each high school, the AAUW, Eldred Chance Memorial Fund and Livermore Unified School District, the booklet has now been printed up and will soon be mailed to 1,000 Livermore seniors.

Next year, the high schools will be including reprinting and mailing costs in their budgets so they can pay for the 1976 version without having to ask for donations.

Meanwhile, Amador counselors were so taken with "College Planning Guide" that they'll be duplicating it to send out to students at Dublin, Foothill and Amador High. And efforts are being made to print it also for the first graduating class of the new California High School in San Ramon.

The booklet may be heralding a new interest in colleges outside the Chabot-Cal State Hayward-UC circuit. Already, a "college faire" is being planned for Oct. 30 at Livermore High. Students and parents from "anywhere" will be invited to meet representatives of many schools and to hear about admissions, scholarships and all the other details students always wanted to know but were afraid to ask.

Camera course offered

DUBLIN— A course in basic photography will be offered for the fifth straight year by the Amador Valley High School District's Adult Education program.

"The course is designed for the beginner," says Will Johnson, who teaches photography in Dublin High School's evening classes."The course is for either the new owner of an adjustable camera or the person who has decided the Brownie-style snapshot is no longer good enough. The class will discuss film, cameras, lenses and light leading the student into black-and-white film processing. Film exposure and picture composition are subjects which come in for a good deal of discussion. The darkroom allows each student to make black-and-white enlargements from his own negatives It's a thorough, comprehensive course for the beginner in photography," Johnson relates.

The costs for the course include a $4 registration fee and $1 lab fee. Students also pay for their own film and processing. The basic photography course meets Tuesday evenings from 7 to 10 starting Sept. 23. Students may register for the course the first night of class. For more information, call 462-5500.

Needed in future

'Bay Area planning agency matter of time'—Mori

Even if the Bay Area Planning Agency (BAPA) is not legislated into reality this coming January, Assemblyman Floyd Mori believes that its inception is only a matter of time.

"I think it's going to be necessary in the future" Mori said and he added that the Bay Area is not the only place where such an agency could do some good.

BAPA is the brainchild of State Senator John Knox of Richmond. It would be a multi-purpose planning agency consisting of 50 members concerned with air, water, sewage and transportation problems.

Knox' original plan called for BAPA to have cease-and-desist powers — i.e., if an agency in the nine county area were to approve a project that would significantly conflict with BAPA's guidelines, BAPA could force the agency to stop.

A later addition was the post of Supermayor — a position with the power of veto over BAPA's moves as well as some control over the budget.

The Supermayor concept was removed by the California State Senate earlier this year, and the cease-and-desist power was also stripped by that same body.

However, the Assembly wanted the agency to have cease-and-desist powers and thus a conference committee consisting of three senators and three assemblymen was formed. The committee came up with the plan of forming BAPA — that is, uniting all the regional agencies under one roof — by only giving it cease-and-desist powers if the people in the region voted for that proposal.

The regional agencies that would be tied together under BAPA include the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC), the Bay Area Sewer Services Agency (BASSA), the Bay Area Air pollution Control District (BAAPCD), Regional Water Quality Control Board (RWCQB) and the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission (BCDC).

The simple consolidation of those agencies would allow planning to go ahead much more smoothly on a regional basis, for, as the Environmental Protection Agency has made clear to Pleasanton and the Valley Community Services District, a decision on sewers has a great effect on air quality.

Similarly, decisions on transportation affect the air; decisions on water affect the sewage and so on.

However, the senate did not approve the amended bill that would have put the above agencies under the BAPA umbrella, even though the assembly did.

Knox was then forced to ask that the bill be reconsidered when the legislature reconvenes in January. If the bill (AB625) is not approved by the end of January, it cannot be brought up again until 1977.

Mori favors the formation of BAPA, especially as an alternative to increased state and federal control. "It maintains a local flavor in addressing regional problems" Mori said, as half of the 50 members will be directly elected by the public and the other half will consist of appointed elected officials from throughout the area.

One key point about BAPA ip that it does not form a new layer of government — it merely consolidates already existing agencies so that decisions can be made in a more uniform manner.

The alternative is increasing state control — like the new Subdivision Map Act shows — or increasing federal control — like the EPA's recent delay on funding local sewer expansion.

And regional considerations are of increasing importance. No longer can one community be sufficient unto itself.

"Communities are not isolated any more" Mori pointed out.

BAPA is designed to prevent one community from growing to the detriment of another community. Whether it is approved in January or its passage is delayed, a regional planning agency is almost a certainty in the next decade.

Connection training

LIVERMORE — Training is beginning for "Connection" volunteers — community helpers who will man the crisis telephone line.

"Connection" (443-2123) is Livermore's 24-hour crisis-informationreferral line. Anyone in need of help or advice may give a call, at any time of the day or night, and a trained listener will respond with information or just a little sympathy.

Anyone interested in being on the listening end of the line may call "Connection" to sign up for the series of training classes.

The contest is open to residents of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, shooting color or blacj and white in any of the 29 EBRPD parks, recreation areas and shorelines in the two counties. Junior division applies to entrans 16 years and under.

Details on the competition may be obtained from Wallace Cromwell, resident naturalist of Coyote Hills Regional Park, who is serving as contest coordinator. He may be reached at the park (8000 Patterson Ranch Road, Fremont 94536) at 471-4967, or at EBRPD headquarters (11500 Skyline Blvd., Oakland 94619) at 531-9300.

Zarb sees fuel oil price drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price of a gallon of imported fuel oil will drop 1.5 cents as the result of the Ford administration's decision to remove the 60-cents-a-barrel import fee on refined petroleum products, officials say.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb announced the move Sunday and said President Ford will decide soon whether or not to remove a $2-per-barrel fee on crude oil imports.

Dropping the 60-cent fee came as a response to the abrupt lapse in price controls on most domestically produced oil, which could result in higher prices and spur inflation.

County phone helping elderly

A telephone information service for seniors, started by the county several months ago, is helping elderly Alameda County residents find solutions to a variety of problems.

Some callers have been looking for a job; others have money problems and have been told about government programs for which they may qualify; still others were lonely, and have been helped to find a new class, club or program.

Residents of Dublin, Pleasanton and Livermore may call toll-free at ENterprise 1-7451, weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. with any problem that affects the elderly, for free assistance.

Opening lead — 7 ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South was really interested in a grand slam after his partner's opening heart bid and spade raise, but he gave up that idea when North bid three hearts over three diamonds. He wanted less heart strength and more spade strength in dummy.

West opened the seven of clubs and dummy's 10 won the first trick. A trump to the ace collected West's nine spot and South paused a long time to consider his next play. If that nine of spades was a singleton the only winning play would be to lead a low spade to dummy's 10.

South decided against this play because if trumps did break 4-1 there would be a lot of problems in the play in any event. In fact against a 3-2 break there would be potential trouble if the winner of the second trump led the suit back.

After all this consideration, South played his king of spades. When both opponents followed he claimed the balance explaining that he would never lead a trump and that whoever held the queen could take a trick with it when he chose.

Ask the Jacobys

A New York reader wants to know what the rule of the ace and the king was.

It was discovered by Oswald Jacoby in 1934 and first appeared in the 1935 book, "The Four Aces System of Bidding". Specifically, in a situation where you were going to game you should consider inviting a slam with a king extra, definitely invite a slam with an ace extra and bid a slam with an ace and king extra. We will discuss this rule and its modern implications in next week's articles.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Dublin grads aid Chabot

Steve Grant and Steve Duncan give the Gladiator football team a one-two kicking combination that may not be equalled in the Golden Gate Conference.

Grant, a reserve quarterback who incidentally sparked Chabot to a 17-6 win over College of Sequoias when starter Don Moore was hurt Saturday night, was named the club's "Hatchet Player of the Week," for his punting.

It probably took a couple of ballots to determine a winner because his former Dublin teammate, Duncan, booted a 37-yard field goal that accounted for all the Gladiator scoring in the first three quarters.

Already propped up by an awesome offense and an improving defense, Chabot's kickers may be the added edge for a conference title. The Gladiators open GGC play Saturday at Diablo Valley College.

Grant averaged better than 44 yards per punt during the first half in Visalia Saturday, and finished with an average just better than 40.

Duncan's 37-yard field goal against the Giants was perhaps the least thrilling of his accomplishments The 5-7, 155 freshman missed three feet to the left on a 47-yard attempt, and fell three feet short on a 50-yarder.

"We have no qualms about letting him kick from there," Chabot coach Terry Cagaanan said yesterday. "From 50 yards on in, we'll go for it Steve can do it. He's got great leverage, and with the soccer style kick he gets a wider sweep of the foot. And, he's a gutty kid."

The freshman quarterback completed two of three passes in little more than one quarter of football. "Steve did an outstanding job," Cagaanan praised. "He moved the club well, and he tore off a couple of long gains on the option. There was a pass interference against Tom Ferguson who was tripped. If that hadn't of happened, Steve might have had another six."

Moore was not injured badly, Cagaanan said, and will be fit to play this Saturday in Pleasant Hill.

Don hit on eight of 18 passes for 97 yards before departing at C.O.S.

Once again Chabot's offense was devestating, rolling up 319 total yards, and running off 92 plays. The defense stifled Sequoias on on just 198 yards, and held All-American running back John Williams to 68 yards on 24 carries.

Offense tough in Raider win

MIAMI (AP) — Oakland quarterback Ken (Snake) Stabler shredded Miami's makeshift defense with razor-like passes that set up a pair of touchdowns by Pete Banaszak, and Harald Hart added another score with a 102-yard kickoff return as the Raiders whipped the Dolphins, 31-21, Monday night.

It was the first opening-game triumph in six National Football League seasons for coach John Madden's Raiders. The verdict also snapped the Dolphins' 31-game winning streak at home in the Orange Bowl, a string covering 27 in regular season as well as four in the playoffs.

The nationally televised game was a rematch of last December's American Conference playoff — considered one of the most exciting pro football games ever played — in which Stabler threw four touchdown passes, the last with 25 seconds remaining to give Oakland a 28-26 victory.

This time, however, it was the Raiders alone who displayed a varied, relentless offense and a tenacious defense.

They built a 17-0 lead on Banaszak's touchdown runs covering two and one yard and venerable George Blanda's 25-yard field goal.

And after the halftime respite, they proceeded to once again rip apart the Miami defense already severely damaged by the pre-season loss of injured veterans.

Patty is back

Mike Zampa

Well,Patty's home and the football players are back to work. And the folks in the suburbs have nothing left to fret over unless maybe it's the price of Bonus Burger at Safeway.

Right?

Well maybe. But those who have been more concerned with the recent disappearance of their National Football League favorites than the flight of the Symbionese Liberation Army can still do a bit of squirming.

Football, though not an endangered species, may be slipping from its pinnacle as America's greatest mass baby-sitting medium. If you believe those grim doomsday forecasters who bungled predictions of baseball's demise four years back, football is now on its way to the sporting scrappile. After a dizzying stay at the top, Any Given Sunday will become simply another day of rest.

The gridiron will be stashed on a studio back lot along with the boxing ring that's been sitting there since the television boom of the fifties.

After years of Sunday's double headers, followed by Monday's Howard Cossell, Americans will blanch at the first shriek of a whistle. They'll go to the zoo, wonder why the zebras are not signaling personal foul, and finally realize that enough is enough.

Last week's wildcat strike by the New England Patriots, coupled with more timidly arranged walkouts in other NFL cities, may have served as the public's slap in the face.

Its NFL heroes threatened to disrupt weekend and Monday night cultural patterns by withholding services. It wasn't enough that we had to shell out $95 for a season ticket, including those six "pre-season" games. Now they were going to make us watch Rhoda.

Well fan reaction may not be violent enough to endanger the financial underpinnings of big time football. Like major league baseball, it will obviously survive, and in some instances prosper. It is engrained in the American psyche.

But it no longer will command the unswerving fealty of the populous.

Folks are through worshipping the Galloping Ghost and Slingin' Sammy. They've been replaced by O.J. Inc. and conglomerated Namath and the only galloping is between the offices of the NFL and WFL team that drafted you.

Fans used to envy the player who was agile, mobile and hostile. Now it's more important to be diversified, computerized and unionized.

The average person's distaste for big business football has translated to empty seats in the last two seasons. Of course NFL owners haven't felt the pinch yet because those fans are "no-shows," people who bought tickets, but didn't appear at the game.

In coming seasons, however, there may be no shows at the post office when those season ticket renewals are mailed out.

Of course the NFL is not necessarily the leading indicator of football fortune in the nation. College and high school football involve the great bulk of players and fans. But there too, the game is in turmoil. Or haven't you checked your court docket lately?

The NCAA is weeping because a lot of football teams are going broke. Attempts at economy are being dashed by a few super powers. They insist that you can't face VPI on Saturday afternoon with less manpower than Patton marched across the Rhine. They're suing their own administrative body to enforce that contention.

Even in high school the decline of football-think is becoming evident. Rosters are beginning to diminish as kids discover other avenues of athletic endeavor.

Chabot College football coach Terry Cagaanan says his school's roster has plummeted from highs of 65 and 70 to 54 this season. It's all because there are fewer

Steelers top Rams

Mark Schultz and Henry Garney ran for touchdowns to give Pleasanton Lounge Steelers a 14-0 victory over the Haps Rams in a heavyweight division Pleasanton Junior football game yesterday.

Bob Adelman added both extra points and the Steeler defense sacked the Ram quarterback three times. Rick Lund rolled up 35 yards rushing for the winners.

In another heavyweight contest the Buttes Jets rolled over the Colts 30-0 as Dave White scored two touchdowns and Keith Didio one. Didio also played a fine game on defense. The winners recovered four fumbles. Roy Tocob sacked the Jet quarterback and Steve Fisher recovered a fumble for the losers.

In the lightweight division Saturan Airway Jets moved into first place with a 12-0 shutout of the Firefighter Raiders.

David Maslana led the Jets with two touchdowns, one a 50-yard run and the other one of 68 yards. Dave Gottschalk had 16 tackles for the winners and Jim Ellis added 11. Rich Mahoney added eight tackles.

Pat Walls, John Bird, Doug Hemenway and Aron Cline played top defense and offense for the losers.

In other lightweight contests the Amador Sports 49ers shutout the Dolphins 20-0 as Brian Thompson had 71 yards rushing and ran the opening kickoff 28 yards. Thompson had one touchdown and Gary Raun had two.

In the last lightweight game the Chargers beat the Swensen Rams, 42-0. Jack and Keith Edney led the winners with three and two touchdowns respectively.

Sources of Energy—No. 1 of a series

If it rained all the time, electricity would be cheaper.

PG&E employs five sources of primary energy—oil, natural gas, natural steam (geothermal), nuclear fuel and falling water (hydro power)—to turn turbo-generators which produce the electricity for its interconnected network system. They are "mixed" for maximum efficiency to generate power at the lowest possible cost.

To harness water for power, we have built one of the nation's greatest hydroelectric systems. In "average" rain and snowfall years, hydro provides about 50% of our electric energy. The force of falling water makes the wheels go 'round in the generating plants.

Hydro generation neither contaminates nor consumes the water itself. It is returned to the rivers undiminished, to serve agriculture and other vital needs.

Building hydroelectric facilities is expensive, but they are economical to operate. The low cost of hydroelectricity is one reason why our rates, despite recent increases, remain among the lowest in the nation.

Diversity: Other sources of energy

Oil and natural gas have become more prominent in our energy mix in recent years because nearly all economically acceptable hydro sites have been developed. But the costs of these fossil fuels have been skyrocketing. In just 5 years, the prices for gas have more than doubled and the cost per barrel of low-sulfur fuel oil has quintupled. All but two of the PG&E electric rate increases requested in the past five years were to offset these higher fuel costs.

The alternative to oil and gas, which are getting more scarce and more costly, is uranium. Nuclear power plants can produce electricity at half the cost of a new oil-fired plant. Our two nuclear units at Diablo Canyon will save our having to buy 24 million barrels of expensive imported oil a year.

These are the good reasons why PG&E and other utility systems, at home and abroad, are building nuclear plants.

PG&E operates The Geysers, the nation's only geothermal power plant. Although a relatively inexpensive source of power, it presently supplies only about 4% of our customers' needs. Its most optimistic potential would supply only about 10%.

Coal one day may be our sixth source of primary energy. We are in the process of acquiring reserves in Utah.

Recent developments in solar power show interesting promise, but its use as a major source is, at best, many years away. Tidal and wind power are still in limited development, and may never become practical for large-scale commercial use, but research continues.

The demand for electricity continues to grow, partly because population itself continues to grow. In 1974 alone, about 100,000 more people were added to PG&E's service area. Energy conservation efforts must continue, but conservation efforts alone will not eliminate our need to build ahead today for your tomorrow.

It's our job to keep you provided with adequate energy and reliable service at the lowest possible cost. And for our part, we intend to do just that.

For your part, we hope you will continue your efforts to conserve energy. It is too precious to waste.

High school and college teams used to galvanize small towns across America. They provided a prime source of entertainment on Friday and Saturday nights. But now that football is beamed to every hamlet in the Western Hemisphere via television, local support is diminishing.

The hometown football team may be going the way of yesterday's minor league baseball team.

Monday morning arm-chair sociologists could have a field day with football.

They could point out how football has become an entertainment for the affluent, or that it is a rigidly structured, team oriented endeavor in an age when we are groping for our individual identity.

They might also contend that we no longer need the vicarious stimulation of gridiron gladiators. Doctors and sporting good dealers have cajoled us into being participators. No longer are we willing to sit back while mercenaries do our calisthenics on camera.

The list of deep-rooted analyses is probably longer than an NFL publicity man's book of adjectives. And its influence on the order of the cosmos is just as weightless.

So what if a few less people crowd into the stadium on Sunday? What's it matter if a couple of kids opt for sailing instead of summer practice.

The game will go on. Colonel Sanders would never let them close out the best Monday night chicken selling gimmick he's ever had.

Gummus leads Leopard victory

Mark Butler also scored.

Mike Ward had both Cougar goals.

Chris Veilleux scored in the Pintos' 1-0 win over the Hot Rods.

Robbie Quigley and Stephen Follett played fine defense.

The Comets' David Graber had three goals in a 4-0 whitewash of the Monte Carlos. Darrin Graber also scored.

The Whitecaps blasted the Dynamos, 7-1. Jim Lovegren scored four times. Mike Wondolowski and Mike Bulmer were defensive stalwarts.

Brian Wilbur and Tony Rochin were the backfield experts in the Vikings' 3-0 win over the Dolphins. Shawn Miller, Richard Rogers and Kelly Brown scored.

Dave Slack, Dennis Hunt and Eric Russell were outstanding defenders as the Browns blanked the Rowdies, 2-0. Chris Brown and Joe Mullany scored.

Kris White and Marty DeBrum each scored twice as the Tornados beat the Hurricanes, 8-1. Pat Nadeau was outstanding for the winners.

The Thunderbolts beat the Infernos, 4-1, on seven saves by Brian Petoletti. Darrel Wood, Bob Terhune, Bob Ward and David Schlientz scored.

Monte Philipp had eight saves in the Whirlwinds' 4-2 win over the Tidal Waves. Charlie Hahgreaves scored twice. John Menan and David Pawek had goals.

Raul Winder had two goals and Randy Johnson stopped five shots at the net as the Squires beat the Tsunamis, 3-0. Mike Lego also scored. Losing goalie Mike Firneno had 11 saves.

The Cougars bopped the Panthers, 2-1, on goals by Jeff LeBow and Loe Louie. Kevin Ward, Jerry Mendez and Ken Held played well.

The Tigers stopped the Wildcats, 3-2, on goals by Joey DeLarosa, Steve Dayton and Dave Mavis.

The Jaguars and Panthers fought to a 2-2 tie. Jerry Allen and Ron Koroush had Jaguar goals. Alex Campiotti and Tony Johnsen scored for the Panthers.

The Cougars ripped the Pumas, 7-2. Kurt Held had five saves, and Rick Sandoval, four.

Martin Wagner and Shane Clark split 10 saves as the Wildcats beat the Jaguars, 3-0. Chris Ruzicka, Bill Malinofsky and Ron Killman scored.

Phil Autio's eight saves preserved the Tigers' 3-1 win over the Panthers Randy Bonner, Steve Dayton and Tim Huff scored.

EBAL football teams were knocked off the map in the East Bay Prep Poll this week after suffering through a second-straight dismal round of ball games.

Dublin High, 15th rated last week and the only league member in the ratings, timbled clear off the list after a 47-7 drubbing by Mission San Jose.

That victory, by the way, pushed the Warriors from sixth to fifth in the poll.

Dublin and Granada, a 27-7 victor over Newark, earned honorable mention this week.

Livermore school holidays in state of flux

LIVERMORE — "When do the schools start Christmas vacation this year?"

"We're going away next summer as soon as school ends. When's the last day?"

"When should I schedule my Easter vacation?"

The answer is: None of the above.

Livermore parents have not yet been told the school vacation schedule because it's only half completed. Teachers and school board members are still haggling over it as part of a negotiation package that has not yet been settled.

But, before you decide to go ahead and schedule that trip, regardless of the school calendar — the major vacations, jchristmas and Easter, seem to be agreed upon and it's other holidays that are under discussion. Especially the last day of school (will it be Thursday, June 10, or Friday the 11?) and the Friday in February that falls between Lincoln's Birthday, a Thursday day off, and Washington's Birthday, a Monday national holiday.

Here's a preliminary look at the Livermore Unified School District calendar for 1975-76:

Nov. 11: Veterans Day

Nov. 27-28: Thanksgiving holiday

Dec. 22 - Jan. 2: Christmas vacation

Jan. 30: Educational planning

Feb. 12-16: Still being negotiated as long holiday; could remain as two separate days off, Feb. 12 for Lincoln Day and Feb. 16 as Washington Day.

March 15: Educational Planning, Budget

April 12-16: Spring vacation (Easter is April 18)

May 31: Memorial Day

June 10 or 11: Still being discussed as last day of school.

According to Allen Schell, president of the Livermore Education Association, teachers want three non-teaching work days (when schools are closed but teachers must report to work): Day before school opens, day after school closes and one in midyear.

The school board currently wants teachers to work five days instead of three.

Of course, school calendar is only one part of the negotiation package. Teachers are also asking for: Reinstatement of minimum days at elementary schools for parent conferences (Otherwise, they say, they will be forced to work many evenings or to cut out the desirable conferences.)

Keeping the teaching day the same length as last year's (the school board wants to keep teachers on campus an additional half hour.)

Increasing salary by 12 per cent (teachers originally asked for 20 per cent; the school board is offering 6.)

Teachers appear alternately hostile and depressed over the current state of negotiations, which are dragging on in an unprecedented way into the new school year. Normally, a salary settlement is reached by the time teachers begin their vacations in June.

The state of the economy is apparently responsible for teachers' desperation in asking for at least a cost-ofliving raise, while taxpayers are unsympathetic because they too are being caught in a money squeeze.

There is apparently not enough support in the teachers' ranks for a successful strike, but the mood is growing more angry because the school board is asking teachers to work more days and longer hours than ever before, as well as offering them half the cost of living.

Meanwhile, the rest of the school district's employes are waiting until the teachers settle before asking for their raises. That includes classified employes such as clerks, secretaries and maintenance people, and administrators.

— by Pat Kennedy

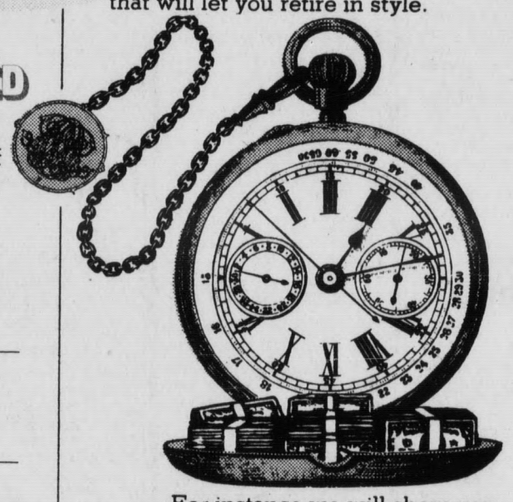
WORLD'S RICHEST TAX-SHELTERED RETIREMENT PLANS

If you are either not covered under a retirement plan or are self-employed, we can start a retirement plan that will: (a) Give you a substantial tax shelter now; (b) Build a substantial retirement fund that will let you retire in style.



For instance we will show you how you can deposit up to $1500 a year in a World Individual Retirement Account (IRA). Every deposit will be deducted from your gross income on your Federal Income Tax return so you won't pay a penny of Federal tax on the principal or interest earnings until you take distribution of the funds (between the ages of 59½ and 70½).

If you are in the 25% tax bracket, you could save over $400 in taxes the first year alone, while in just 30 years your retirement fund builds to an incredible $171,750! Based on an earning rate of 7¾% compounded continuously.

If you are self-employed, we'll help you start a tax-sheltered Keogh plan in which you can deposit up to $7,500 a year. We'll also fill you in on little known facts like how to make 1975 Keogh deposits as late as April 15 of 1976.
